Objectives	Assess sectoral and national productivity levels in Bangladesh in terms of the targets in the National Productivity Master Plan; identify methods to achieve productivity master plan goals; and develop a monitoring and evaluation (M&E) framework for the National Productivity Organisation (NPO) of Bangladesh to assess productivity performance.
Rationale	The NPO of Bangladesh, Ministry of Industries, and other ministries and departments finalized an action plan to meet the National Productivity Master Plan targets and goals. It is now crucial to determine the present sectoral productivity levels and to establish an M&E system to track productivity progress and performance.
Background	The completion of the development of the Bangladesh National Productivity Master Plan (FY2021–2030) in July 2019 was followed by government approval of the targets, strategies, directions, and initiatives contained. As the master plan is a national initiative involving various ministries, agencies, and private entities, a reliable method to assess the progress of its implementation must be developed. An M&E system will enable clear assessment of the implementation of the master plan as well as broader monitoring of national productivity levels. This process and associated evaluation framework will assist in shaping activities and directions that promote productivity in Bangladesh. Greater efficiency in executing the initiatives under the master plan will result from the establishment of an M&E framework.
Topics	Assessment of sectoral and national productivity performance; Identification of viable sectors to achieve the goals and targets of the master plan; and An M&E framework for the implementation of the master plan.
Outcome	Sectoral and national productivity performance in Bangladesh is assessed; viable sectors to support the achievement of master plan goals and targets are identified; and an M&E framework for implementation of the master plan is developed as a reference for evaluation.
